Investment philosophy

1

We believe markets are inefficient due to behavioural biases

2

These inefficiencies generate diverse alpha opportunities across investment styles

3

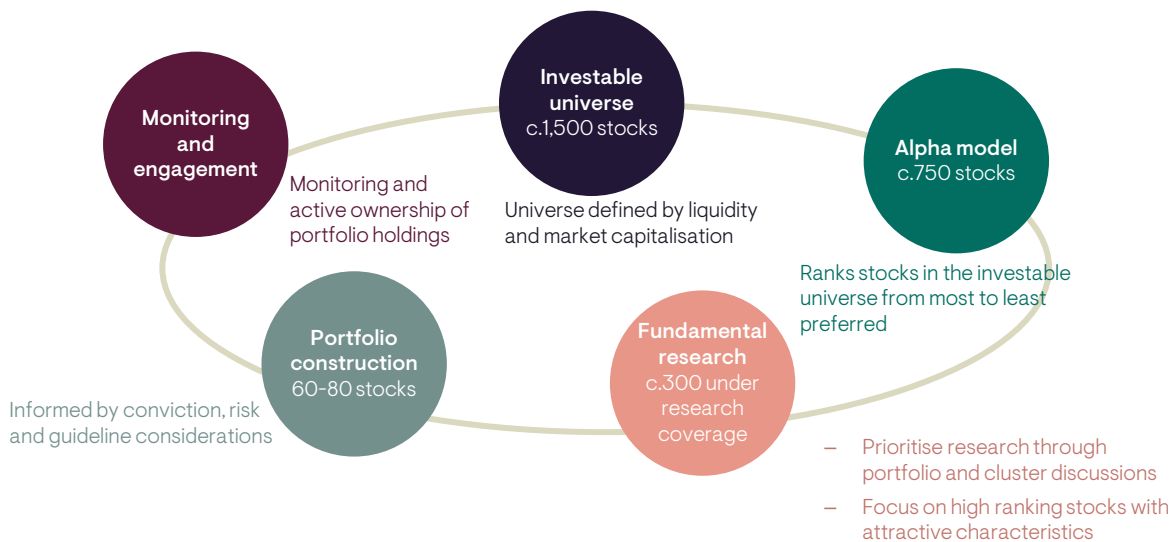

Combining fundamental insight with quantitative analysis is the optimal way to unlock alpha

Investment process

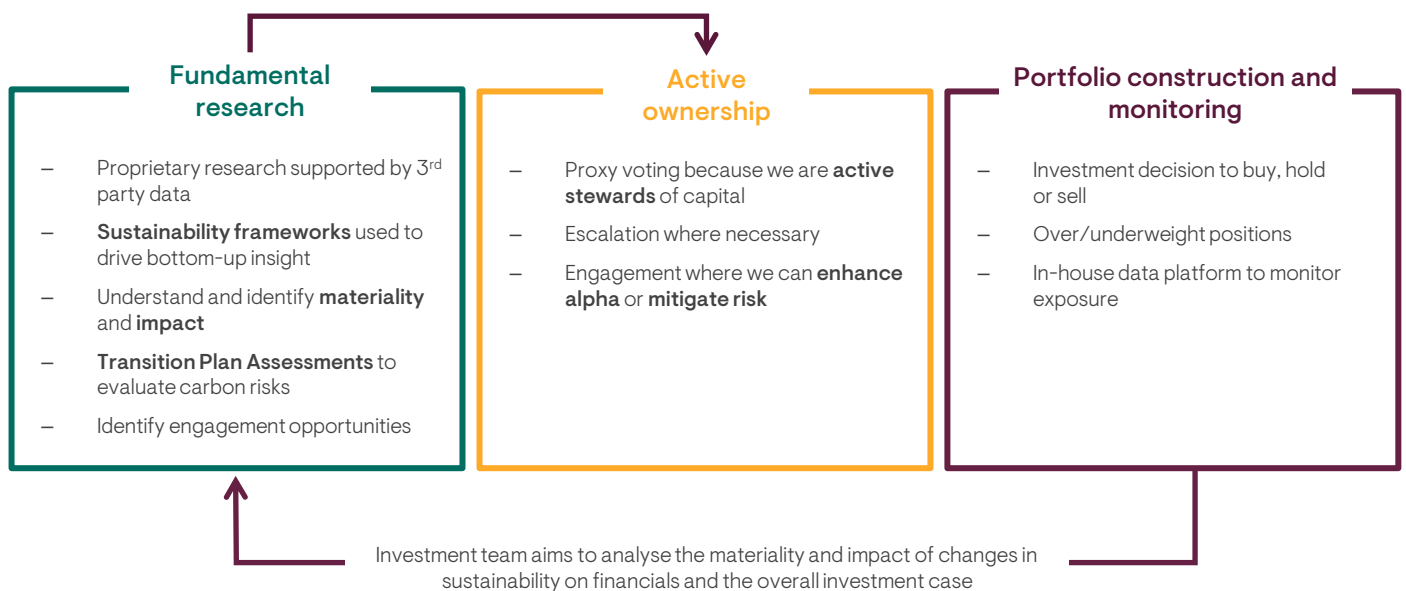

A disciplined and integrated investment framework.

From a broad investable universe, our robust, repeatable process begins with a machine learning alpha model which objectively ranks companies from the most to least attractive based on our philosophy and investment criteria. We focus our fundamental research on the top-ranking subset of opportunities. Our team of investment specialists then assesses the bottom-up investment case of these companies to identify our highest conviction ideas for inclusion in the portfolio, incorporating risk management and sustainability considerations throughout. Our fundamental analysis uncovers deep, forward-looking insights on the key business drivers that matter for share price performance over the next 12-24 months. We focus on where we believe changes to marginal expectations in these key business drivers are underestimated or mis-priced by the market.

The resulting portfolio has balanced exposure over time to value, growth, quality and momentum. We focus on idiosyncratic risk to drive consistent, long-term risk adjusted returns.

Why Ninety One

Ninety One is a global investment manager with emerging market roots and a commitment to developing specialist investment teams organically. Our heritage and approach let us bring a different perspective to active and sustainable investing. As active and responsible investors, we manage our clients' money to meet their long-term financial objectives.

Our investment expertise spans the equity, fixed income, multi-asset and alternative asset classes. Our specialist investment teams invest actively across global, emerging and frontier markets.

Established in South Africa in 1991, as Investec Asset Management, we started offering domestic investments in an emerging market. In 2020, almost three decades of organic growth later, we demerged from Investec Group and became Ninety One.

The firm seeks to create profitable partnerships between clients, shareholders and employees. Our aim is to exceed our clients' and service expectations and to manage their money to the highest possible standard.

General risks: The value of investments, and any income generated from them, can fall as well as rise. Costs and charges will reduce the current and future value of investments. Past performance does not predict future returns. Investment objectives may not necessarily be achieved; losses may be made. Target returns are hypothetical returns and do not represent actual performance. Actual returns may differ significantly. Environmental, social or governance related risk events or factors, if they occur, could cause a negative impact on the value of investments.

Specific Risks: Currency exchange: Changes in the relative values of different currencies may adversely affect the value of investments and any related income. Derivatives: The use of derivatives is not intended to increase the overall level of risk. However, the use of derivatives may still lead to large changes in value and includes the potential for large financial loss. A counterparty to a derivative transaction may fail to meet its obligations which may also lead to a financial loss. Equity investment: The value of equities (e.g. shares) and equity-related investments may vary according to company profits and future prospects as well as more general market factors. In the event of a company default (e.g. insolvency), the owners of their equity rank last in terms of any financial payment from that company. Emerging market (inc. China): These markets carry a higher risk of financial loss than more developed markets as they may have less developed legal, political, economic or other systems.
